Please note: While you may or may not be applying for a guiding-intensive position, all new hires must complete our Guide Training program and are trained as interpretive naturalist guides. This is one of the foundations of our business. All employees are usually involved, to some degree, in guiding programs and need to be capable and prepared to do so.

The position of Nature Guide does require a certain level of fitness and physical capability due to the nature of the job: moving kayaks, paddling, performing safety and rescue operations, etc.. Nature Guides are expected to be able to adapt to a hot and humid sub-tropical summer environment, being outside and without shade often while working, and work that includes, but is not limited to; lifting and moving kayaks, paddling at a moderate intermittent pace, and lifting 60 lbs. or more multiple times a day. A practical skills test is incorporated in the Guide Training course. This skills test will assess your ability to perform certain kayaking related skills and rescue skills that involve lifting and towing kayaks. You must also be a capable swimmer. If you have questions about the type and/or extent of physical activity involved in this job, or the specific position you are applying for, please discuss this with the hiring manager or owner.

Kayak Nature Guide Applicants: to the best of your knowledge, are you prepared for and capable of the above described level of physical activity? YES / NO / I DON'T KNOW
